Welcome to

Dartmouth-Hitchcock

This guide will help familiarize you with the many programs and services now available to you as a Dartmouth-Hitchcock patient. As the longest established and largest multi-specialty medical group practice in the area, we take great pride in providing you with quality health care. We are available to treat specific medical problems when they arise, and we offer preventive medical examinations to help ensure your continued good health.

Dartmouth-Hitchcock offers primary care services for adults and children, including internal medicine, obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics and family medicine. Our primary care departments aim to serve as your Medical Home. Medical Home is a model of care that promotes close partnerships and coordination of care between you and your health care providers. In this model, your care is administered by a physician-led team that works together to provide for your health needs and coordinates your treatment across the health care system. By placing an emphasis on wellness, prevention, health screenings and other strategies, your Medical Home team takes a proactive approach to your care, allowing you to take greater responsibility for managing your health.

In addition, we offer a variety of specialty services that include allergy, cardiology, cancer services, dermatology, endocrinology, gastroenterology, orthopedics, general surgery and other medical specialties and sub-specialties.

Collaboration

is the most powerful medicine of all.

As a Dartmouth-Hitchcock patient, you have access to a health care network that includes Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center - New Hampshire's leading teaching hospital, Children's Hospital at Dartmouth-Hitchcock (CHaD®), Norris Cotton Cancer Center, and the academic resources of Geisel School of Medicine at Dartmouth.

A Skilled Team

At Dartmouth-Hitchcock, we strive to deliver comprehensive medical care through the collaborative efforts of physicians, associate providers, and nurses.

We believe a significant benefit of being a patient with a multi-specialty group practice is the coordination of your care with health professionals who communicate easily and readily with one another. With that in mind, our goal is to have your care delivered by Dartmouth-Hitchcock providers and specialists. The result is an exceptional team of professionals working together to provide you with quality health care.

Breakthrough Research & Treatment

Our patients have access to a health care network that has a national reputation for research and clinical trials which has led to new treatments and cures. Our breakthrough work in cardiology, pediatrics, cancer research, and other areas helps improve patient care all over the country.

Physicians from our community-based medical practices and Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center collaborate on a regular basis and stay up-to-date on the latest research and treatments. This means our patients have immediate access to new prevention techniques and cures. This allows our patients the peace of mind of having one community-based source for their families' health care, backed by the resources of New Hampshire's leading teaching hospital.

Education is Powerful Medicine

As part of an academic medical center, we are strongly committed to providing patients with the tools and resources they need to be actively involved in their own health care. Therefore, we offer extensive health education programs and clinics; special programs for women, children, and other patients; and take a leadership role in community and statewide health initiatives.

Access to New Hampshire's Full-Service, Comprehensive Children's Hospital

Imagine the best care for your child close to home. Prevention programs. Well-child care. Treatment of complex illness and injury. Your child's health team partnering with renowned pediatric specialists who welcome you as an equal partner in your child's treatment. All working together to raise another healthy kid. That's what we do every day at CHaD®, the Children's Hospital at Dartmouth-Hitchcock.

CHaD® is New Hampshire's full-service, comprehensive, children's hospital and only member of Children's Hospital Association, providing an extended system of care that offers advanced clinical services for children. Our physician expertise provides primary, specialty, and tertiary care in collaboration with others across the northern New England region. With nearly 270 providers and 175 specialists in more than 30 specialties and the only Pediatric Trauma Center approved by the American College of Surgeons in NH, CHaD® provides the most advanced levels of care. And we've brought specialty care close-to-home in our outpatient locations throughout the region including Concord, Bedford, Dover, Exeter, Keene, Manchester, Nashua, and Plymouth, NH and Bennington, VT.

It's hard not to worry about your child's health. We hope it's reassuring to know that as a Dartmouth-Hitchcock patient, you have access to some of the leading providers in your community and some of the leading pediatric experts in the nation. Wherever you live in the region, you and your children can benefit from CHaD's® services and expertise.
